One of the goals of the program overhaul was to move larger organizations into accountable care organizations (ACOs). In February CMS released the list of ACOs participating in the 2019 MSSP. Hospital-led ACOs have the highest dropout rate of all ACOs at the end of 2018. At the same time, physician-led ACOs have higher dropout rates than hospital-led ACOs. In particular, despite new policies favoring low-revenue ACOs, small physician-led ACOs have the highest dropout rate of all ACOs at the end of 2018.

With these dramatic developments in mind the Summit is offering a number of sessions on relevant topics such as a Keynote address by Pauline Lapin, MHS, Director of the CMS Medicare Shared Savings Program, a panel on Bundled Payment Policy, and a major presentation on the new ACO‐Based Payment and Learning Action Network’s (LAN) Roadmap for Driving High Performance in Alternative Payment Models. In addition the Summit will feature sessions on Creating Better Quality Measures in ACOs; Social Determinants of Health into ACO/Risk Bearing Models; Lessons Learned and Best Practices in Value-based Contracting; Enhancing the Patient Engagement and Experience in Accountable Care; Lessons Learned for Specialty MBS; Engaging Specialists in Value-based Payments through Specialty Payment Chassis Design; Methods for Managing Post Acute Care; Integrating Behavioral Health and Primary Care into Value-based Arrangements; Accountable Care Organizational Resources; NAACOS, ACLC and APM.

But there is more. ACO Summit attendees are able to attend all sessions of the collocated Bundled Payment Summit II and MACRA Summit IV. Please see the combined Agenda-at-a-Glance on page 3 of this brochure. In combination the Summit will cover payment reform since they were introduced as a key component of the Affordable Care Act. The payment programs. And more often than not the private sector follows Medicare and Medicaid’s directions in payment reform. Accountable care organizations (ACOs) have a major payment and delivery reform were introduced as a key component of the Affordable Care Act. Currently, there are more than 1,000 ACOs covering about 33 million lives across all states and the time had come for “exploring new and improved episode-based models in other areas, including radiation oncology.” These initiatives are in sharp contrast with the actions of Tom Price, MD, the previous HHS secretary who canceled and scaled back major mandatory bundled payment programs. And more often than not the private sector follows Medicare and Medicaid’s directions in payment reform.
